

My Dreams

In 5 years, I will have a big house. My husband, myself, and my two children will live there. I will have stable work. I have to develop my intelligence. I'll have to speak English and will have new friends, putting in practice my lessons. I will have visited tourist places and will know new cultures.

In the next 5 years, I want for my husband to have his construction company be solvent and for our sons to continue in school and to try to always be good boys. Also, I want to buy a bigger house where we can have horses, baby goats, and pigs, something like a big farm. Also, I want to learn English.
